

Section 3.8 Rates, Ratios, and Percents

See the book for the examples. The main thing to remember here is that rates have units, ratios are unit less, and percents are per 100. Also, make sure to always use unit analysis to verify your answer and your units. The units are an important part of your answer. No units – lose points.